A. P. S Chapter 1214

At this time we are still working on several problems relating to our April 6 - 7, 1991 WILKPEX show: Due to the fact that we had to find a new location for the show because the Bloomfield Moose had been sold, we were forced to change the date of our show. Therefore, we lost a good many of our "regular" dealers because they had already signed contracts for those days. Joe Brasch reports that he still needs about 8 more dealers to fill the bourse.

We are having trouble with the cachet: The new owners of the Pittsburgh Pirates and Major League Baseball Properties have not yet given us the OK to go ahead with our proposed '91 cachet. If we do not hear from them real soon, we either need another idea (baseball related) or we do not have a cachet for this year.

The third concern has been the lack of us being listed in "The American Philatelist" monthly "Show Time" column. This listing seems to be the only official show listing in America. If we are not in the January issue ...

Everything always works out in the end. We will end up with a lot of new items and Joe will get in touch with more dealers.

We hope people are working on getting an exhibit together for this show.

These, and other items of equal importance will be discussed at the meeting this Sun.

Starting with the John Marshall stamp and continuing on many subsequent 1990 issues, marginal inscriptions describing the stamp's subject and significance have been in existence. Collectors so far seem not to have noticed. But, if in the future the USPS places the inscriptions consistently without impinging on the plate block, it may emerge that 1990 launched another type of collectible.

Six years ago the cents symbol was dropped from U.S. stamps. Minimalism was the watchword among the artists who control our stamp designs. This eliminated design clutter, they said. Some postal clerks however thought the stamps ambiguously labeled "2" as representing $2, rather than 2¢. By adding a zero before single digit denominated stamps, the USPS tried to resolve denomination confusion. This was introduced on the 5¢ Luis Munoz Martin definitive which was also the first Great American stamp to describe its stamp in the margin.

Maybe in 1991 we will again see the cents symbol and even "United States Postage" returned to our stamps. (Original ideas above from Michael Laurence, Linn's Editor)

The first stamp to be issued in 1991 will be the so-called F-stamp. It is to be released around Jan. 14th. Accompanying this stamp will be a non-denominated make-up rate stamp which will represent the difference between the present 25¢ rate and the new rate. This stamp, the first of its kind, will make up the difference to equal the new first class postage rate, when used with a 25¢ stamp. This stamp will have no graphics, only text. It will not have phosphorescent tagging. (The closest U.S. stamps to this non-graphic concept are the 1960 American Credo stamps, each of which had other design elements added.)

Billions of copies of the F-stamp, which depicts a red tulip with a single green leaf on a yellow background, have been printed and shipped to storage and distribution facilities. The postal service has been very sensitive about this stamp, referring to Lou Yagle will have the new plastic "F" stamp for sale at his table this Sunday. A sheet of 12 is $3.49. Lou also has the Scott Specialized Catalogue #5, 1991 issue for those who ordered it, and he has an extra copy if someone wants to buy it. He also has the Scott Pocket U.S. Catalogue for sale at his table.

At the right is a copy of our show cancel for this year. We should have a picture of the cachet at the Feb. 24th meeting. We have made contact with Major League Baseball Properties on Park Ave. in NYC, but as of right now, we do not have their approval to go ahead and use the words "World Series" in our cachet. I hope to get this all straightened out soon. (Maybe they want us to put a picture of Barry Bonds on it and sell them for $25 each.)

Last month I received a copy of the "Global Stamp News" in the mail. It's a new philatelic newspaper published in Sidney, Ohio. All the articles in it were of high interest to anyone who is a world-wide collector. It's FREE. The advertisers absorb the cost through their advertising fee. It was sent out to 20,000 collectors of foreign stamps. I highly recommend it to you if you collect foreign stamps. For your FREE copy (subscription) just write to: Global Stamp News, P.O. Box 97, 715 Johnston Drive, Sidney, Ohio 45365. (Jan Brandewie is the editor. Phone (513)-492-3183) You'll be glad you did. I was really impressed by the articles in it: they were not as technical as those in The American Philatelist.

WILKPEX '91 is only two months away. IT could be a disaster; it could be a very successful show. We are facing many questions about the show, even though we know what lies ahead. To make this show a success in this new location on this unusual date for our stamp show (we usually have it the third week-end in April) we will need more than luck and hard work. Areas of most concern include: exhibitors, volunteers to man the auction and "phlea market" and volunteers to work the reception table, and volunteers or as we called them last year-- Facility Engineers--- to help set up and tear down.

We have 17 dealers signed up, we hope to get 3 more. Tom Shaw suggests you get in touch with him (731-5026) or pick up a copy of the Prospectus if you are planning to have an exhibit this year. We will again have Bob Miller's "Keystone Auction" and the Philatelic Phlea Market. If you have any items for the Phlea Market you must get them to Charlie Schwab (421-8690) before March 25th. Cathy Blanchard has been busy doing the publicity for WILKPEX '91. Bill Uncapher and Jackie Abbott need stamps for packaging for free distribution to youngsters who visit the show. Please call the Show Chairmen: Joe Bayuk (462-1771) or Gene Bujdos (461- 0289) if you can serve on any committee. Harold Cline (371-3976) could use someone to help with the Booklet. This year will be the time for all to come to the aid of their stamp club. When you move to a new location you always wonder if the regulars will come to the show. Let's hope they do. I hope to have good news and a better newsletter next month.

it as the "Flower" stamp. They think that TV comedians like Johnny Carson, Jay Leno, and David Letterman who have many fans, will make fun of it and refer to it as the "F is for Failure" stamp.

The new rate increase, whatever it will be, will go into effect on Sunday, Feb. 3.

The design for a ten subject U.S. sheetlet commemorating World War II events of 1941 was unveiled at the White House late last month. Each sheetlet will contain 10 stamps, separated by a large gutter reproducing a large map. Two of these sheetlets will appear on a standardized post office pane, creating a se-tenant block of 10 where they meet. This will be the first of five such sheets to be released over the next five years, with a total of 50 stamp designs to commemorate the major events of WW II. (See copy from Linn's below.) Bear in mind that these sheetlets will not be issued in conjunction with a major national or international stamp show, as all previous U.S. souvenir sheets have been.

NNNN.

Shown here is the first of five scheduled U.S. sheetlets marking events in World War II. Two sheetlets make up a post office pane, creating a se-tenant block of 10 stamps where they meet. The essay stamps shown here bear a "00" denomination.
